Down sawdust-strewn aisles in Kingston's biggest "department store" strolled a large share of the city's population Friday evening, the second night of Kingston's Tented Exposition on the Fair Grounds at the foot of North Front street. It was a jolly, good-natured crowd that jostled elbows with each other and it was also rather amazed crowd for the "tented city" was much larger and better than even the most optimistic ones had expected to see.

Under the sparkle of thousands of electric lights the sides of the sawdust streets presented an appearance of countless little stores each separated from the other by a slight partition and displayed in the little stores were things to delight the mind, the eye and the stomach.

As the crowd passed through the big automobile show and saw rows on rows of cars of all the latest makes and models they first began to realize the extent of the Exposition, and then as they entered the main industrial tent it was like stepping into Fairyland with lights blazing everywhere. Here gathered together were heaped the treasures of the leading shops of the old Colonial City, and under the sparkle of the electric lights they were displayed to the best advantage.

While the women folks were drawn to the things dear to the heart of every woman, the men folks found that they had not been neglected at the shops that had been prepared to especially attract the male eye.

It was a veritable department store, but on a scale that had never before been seen in Kingston, and as the crowd jostled each other in the crowded aisles the fact was brought home that Kingston's industrial life furnished not only the necessities but the comforts and luxuries.

The women folks had not been in the department store five minutes before they were equipped with paper shopping bags that were distributed free at some of the booths and which were then used to carry the literature and souvenirs that were handed out by those in charge of the little stores.

Scattered here and there among the little stores were tempting displays to appeal to the stomachs of the visitors, and all evening the stores where they prepared the pancakes and then buttered and spread them over with maple syrup held an interested crowd who sampled with relish. And then to top it all off there were other little stores where one received a hot cup of coffee with milk and sugar. And back of the counter stood attentive store folks who urged the crowd to sample the coffee and buckwheat cakes.

"Did you taste that marmalade?" "Wasn't that coffee delicious?" "Golly, those pancakes hit the right spot."

Those were but a few of the expressions to be heard on every hand. Through the big department store run two wide sawdust aisles with stores on either side. Here in one was to be found furniture to delight the heart of the prospective bride, and in another the outer trappings to be worn in the house and on the street. All of the latest shades and designs in materials of fine texture were displayed and the visitor starting at one end of the long street and finishing the tour of the stores on the other street would see articles to equip himself or herself from head to foot with clothing and jewelry.

And besides that would see material for an ideal home furnished with not only all the modern conveniences but the necessities. Artistic rugs, period furniture, electric washers and other kitchen equipment to make glad the heart of any woman who does her own housework.

Never before had there been gathered together in one big store such a variety of articles. The library was not forgotten with artistic displays of the latest fiction while the music room would be equipped with piano, talking machine and radio.

All of the varied commercial activity of a hustling city is gathered together in the little stores that go to make up the big department store and the visitor to the tented city before he or she leaves had gained a slight idea of the magnitude of the commercial life of Kingston. The various factories, that turn out the cigars and pipe tobacco to the factories that turn out shirts and other articles of clothing are all represented.

And music! Of course there is music. Where there is brilliant illumination, music is as necessary as food, and wireless concerts at the Warren booth at one extreme end of the sawdust street to the orchestra at the other end of the street furnish the various extremes while in between is heard the latest songs and dances of the hour from the talking machines in the little stores scattered in between.

Outdoors the air was chilly, but inside the crowds and the music and the lights and the displays warmed the hearts of the visitors and they forgot that Friday night was one of the coldest so far experienced this fall.

And then the entertainment of the evening was the big style show in the tented city at the extreme end of the tented city. An account of the show will be found elsewhere in tonight's paper.

The tented city will not take down the canvas until next Saturday. The exposition has to be seen to be appreciated.

The Exposition opens each afternoon at 2 o'clock and remains open until midnight.

Only One Factory in U. S. The Schilling Furniture Company displays fine samples of its two products, four-post beds and day-beds. Samples of its work are in two kinds of wood, solid mahogany and solid mahogany which are the only woods used by the company in making beds.

The Schilling factory which has been in operation in Kingston for about six years, is unique in being the only bed factory in the United States which is devoted to the manufacture of only two kinds of beds, all other manufacturers turning out many varieties and models. But the Schilling Company finds that its plan pays best.

One of Our Cigars. One of the brands of cigars made in Kingston, the Peter Schuyler, forms the only exhibit of its many factories. G. W. Van Slyke & Horton, whose space is devoted entirely to a display of that cigar. There are pictures of old Peter himself that look as natural as life, and then there are the cigars and the boxes they come in.

A Cheerful Warm Place. The Half Moon Forge, ironworkers of Ruby, Ulster county, and the Kingston Cooperative Savings and Loan Association have joined forces to present one of the most attractive booths in the big tent. The booth represents a room whose principal feature is a fireplace whose red glow supplies warmth to everyone who stops to look at it and to receive the interesting literature dispensed by the Savings and Loan Association telling the reader how to cooperate with the association in securing a home which can be provided with such comforts. The handsome ironwork of the fireplace is one of the products of the Half Moon Forge.

Pleasant Place To Rest. The Federation of Women's Clubs provides a half dozen comfortable chairs and a table around which visitors to its booth may rest after sight-seeing along one of the long aisles in the big tent. The booth is near the entertainment tent, and the radio program can be enjoyed from the C. A. Warren booth nearby while one is waiting.

Lessons in Banking. And while listening to the radio program while seated in the Federation booth the visitor can glance over the next booth and learn something about banking and saving by reading the interesting signs which are displayed there by the Kingston Trust Company. There is a great deal of sound sense in what the signs say.

Sweets In Abundance. The Kingston Candy Company has a fine display of its products in attractive boxes and the man or woman who enjoys good confectionery has a splendid opportunity to decide what particular brand of sweets will make the greatest appeal to the palate.

The Derrenbacher Candy Company displays a complete line of all its products as well as the excellent variety of chocolates which it handles as distributors for this region and a sight of all the candy shown there is sure to whet the appetite of everyone.

Automobile Tires In Profusion. Automobile tires are shown in two booths.

The C. L. Tire Shop exhibits Holyoke tires in all sizes and styles, and the motorist can learn all about their good qualities on inquiry.

The Brown Tire Company exhibits a variety of tires handled by it in sizes and styles to suit the particular requirement of any motorist needing its goods.

Shoes In Many Styles. E. T. Stelle & Son have devoted their booth entirely to a display of a display of Cantilever footwear which is very attractive. There are as many styles in footwear as in anything else on the market, and the extent of Cantilever footwear cannot be appreciated until the Stelle exhibit is seen. The booth is tastefully trimmed and presents a most artistic appearance.

The Oil Companies Compete. There is considerable competition among the companies furnishing gas and oil.

LIVING MODELS IN FINEST CLOTHES

Fashion Show at Exposition a Revelation of What Local Shops Afford In Up-To-Minute Wearing Apparel.

Why any American woman could even think of turning to Paris for her finest clothes, those of elegance and style and individuality, when an American city the size of Kingston can give such a fashion show as was to be seen at the Exhibition on Friday evening is impossible to conceive. Furthermore the many exhibitors proved plainly that Kingston merchants have become exceedingly expert in the matter of buying just the "right" clothes that any thoroughly well dressed woman would long for, once she saw them.

It certainly was timely weather for the showing of fall and winter coats for women and children Friday evening, the warmer the better. Nor were fashions for women all there was of the fashion show. The men had their linings, too.

Only a dealer in the garments shown could describe them all in detail, as to names of fabrics, colors, etc., especially as the models were all seen at quite a distance owing to the height of the stage, which had been so arranged as to allow quite an extensive promenade on the part of the graceful, exceedingly attractive and effective models.

The dainty, smart and handsome shoes worn by most of the models were from the store of E. T. Stelle and Son. Where the coats were not decidedly sport coats of mixtures, etc., they were of rich, soft, hanging velvet, bolivia, ormandale, verona and duvetine, with the fur collars of fox, opossum, natural and dyed beaver squirrel, Persian lamb, etc.

S. E. Eighmey was the first exhibitor, Miss Sadie Coughlin and Miss Jones being models. Miss Coughlin wore a rich and stylish coat of dark blue, fur trimmed, while Miss Jones wore a brown coat with fur collar and cuffs. As the young ladies reached the front of the stage, they gracefully unfurled the coats, holding them open and displaying the handsome linings and pretty frocks worn under the coats. Both these young ladies were exceedingly becoming hats.

The Rose, Gorman, Rose Store was represented by Miss Beatrice Kelsey and Mrs. Taggart, the former wearing a smart sport coat with fox collar and a sport hat. Her frock was navy blue accented with pleated cloth skirt with crimson and blue blouse. Mrs. Taggart wore a dark blue coat of graceful line with black fur collar, black panne and silk picture hat and a frock of dark blue and pearl mixture.

Then came the men's turn. S. Cohen's Sons' model was Harold Proper who appeared wearing a light tan top coat with large brown buttons, gray gloves, a soft hat of harmonizing brown shade and darker ribbon band. A dark cloth suit and scarf of gray completed this smart outfit.

Then came Clark Snyder, representing A. W. Mollott, and wearing a top coat of reddish brown mixture, with gloves to match, carrying a walking stick and wearing a soft hat of very light tan with dark brown band.

Following Mr. Coe's announcement that S. E. Eighmey would show children's coats, etc., with Ruth King as model and that Rose, Gorman, Rose would do likewise with Priscilla Davis as model, out tripped the two misses greatly delighting the audience. Miss Ruth wore a brown coat with fancy button and tassel ornament, and fur collar; a crimson panne hat and a frock of navy cloth with a touch of scarlet trimming. Miss Priscilla wore a taupe colored coat, with beaver collar and fringe trimming, a velvet hat to match, pretty cloth dress with jeweled clasp. Both misses wore Stelle shoes, very up-to-date, but with all such shoes as a school girl should wear.

Miss Estelle Rogers and Miss Dell McDurr represented the Up-To-Date Company. Miss Rogers exhibited a taupe colored, embroidered and fur-trimmed coat with hat of panne velvet of accompanying shade ornamented with wing trimming. Miss McDurr showed to advantage a coat of dark blue, with silver thread embroidery on sleeves, squirrel fur collar and on sleeves, black hat with trimming of ornaments of monkey fur, very smart.

The L. B. Van Wagenen Company's models were Miss Evelyn Erickson and Miss Betty Gruber. Both young ladies carried silver mesh bags from the Richard Myer Store. Miss Erickson's coat was golden brown with large collar of natural fox fur and she wore a velvet hat similar in color. Her dress was of dark blue crepe or georgette. Miss Gruber wore dark blue coat with broadcated border, squirrel collar, over a black frock. Her hat was of black shirred satin and velvet.

Miss Kathryn Myers and Miss Gladys Hopper wore Wonderly coats and Carl hats, and carried Myer mesh bags. Miss Myers wore a black coat with seal collar, cape effect, and seal cuffs, soft black velvet hat with front rosette and black crepe frock. Miss Hopper wore a greenish-blue coat with black fur, large black hat of moire and satin and georgette frock with trimming or rosettes and fringe.

Then came an intermission in the fashion show during which Miss

ELECTRIC MOTORS IN CHANGE OVER

Electric Company's Men Should Be Allowed Access to Them Sunday During Period of Alterations.

The electric distribution system change over, as announced in Friday's Freeman, to be made by the Kingston Gas & Electric Company on Sunday, October 22nd, will go through as scheduled unless weather conditions interfere.

As previously stated all circuits north of Broadway and west of O'Reilly street will be cut dead from 6 o'clock in the morning until noon, time and all circuits south of Broadway and west of the West Shore tracks will be cut dead during the afternoon. Service will be re-established as quickly as possible.

The company requests that all consumers having motors arrange, if possible, to allow the company's representative access to these motors during the period of the change over. This access to all motors is necessary in order that the direction of rotation shall not be changed as a result of the cut-over.

The plans for this change over are being laid so that it may be carried through with the greatest possible speed. The company realizes the importance of service to its consumers and will carry through the necessary work with the least practical delay.

REGISTRATION BELOW NORMAL

Although the complete figures for the first three days of registration for the fall election are not obtainable from the figures at hand, it appears that the registration is below that of 1920 and 1921. Unless an effort is made to get the vote out before the polls close this evening the registration in Kingston will prove much lighter than the preceding two years. Polls will remain open until 10 o'clock.

AMERICAN TROOPS TO REMAIN ON RHINE.

LLOYD GEORGE BEGINS "COMEBACK"

By Telegram to The Freeman. Leeds, England, Oct. 21.—Former Premier David Lloyd George donned his fighting clothes today to give battle to his political enemies. He came to this city to deliver his first political speech since resigning from the premiership.

From the enthusiastic greetings given him in London and upon his arrival here, the former premier is confident that he has the support of the people.

It is understood that Lloyd George holds a Bonar Law mainly responsible for the wrecking of the coalition government. Law was formerly a member of the Lloyd George ministry. He is now Lloyd George's successor as premier.

On account of the shortness of time which must elapse before a general election is held, it is regarded as certain that a new party will not be formed. It is believed by Lloyd George's adherents that there would not be sufficient time in which to arrange the details of a new working organization.

The line-up in the next election probably will be as follows: Liberals, led by Lloyd George. "Die hard" wing of Conservatives, led by A. Bonar Law.

"Moderate" faction of Tories, led by Austen Chamberlain. There is a possibility that the "moderates" among the Tories may make some kind of a bargain with the Liberals which would mean the speedy downfall of any government that Law may set up.

THE MISSES DEER

"I was so glad of something that happened the other day," said Miss Deer to her friend Deborah Deer.

"Do tell me about it," said Deborah.

"I heard of some people who had complained that we had hurt the wheat crop."

"A person who knew and understood went to see and told the people who had complained that there was not a word of truth in what they said."

"The deer had simply walked through the wheat field and where they had bitten had done so very carefully and had not bitten below the leaf joint."

"As the wise person explained wheat would grow again when it was not bitten below the leaf joint."

"I am glad some one told the truth, for I do think it is too bad to be complained of when one is careful."

"It was nice to hear that," said Deborah Deer.

"Oh," said Miss Deer, "I've been wondering about lately having such a good time."

"What a beautiful world it is! How nice it is to feel safe. I do hope they won't have any horrible hunting season this year."

"I'm wondering if there won't be any hunting season. Do you suppose something like that may take place some day?"

"Do Tell Me About It."

"I don't know," said Deborah, "I do hope so, oh, how I hope so. Not only for ourselves but for all of our family."

"It seems strange that people should enjoy killing us."

"They have plenty to eat. They don't need us. Oh, we're happy free and alive."

"We have so much to live for, so much, oh, so much! It seems strange that they might go for us."

"We are protected for a great part of the year and we know when we are protected. Oh, how I hope the great day will come when it will be against the law to hunt for us."

"I hope for something even better than that," said Miss Deer. "I would love to think that people loved us so they couldn't kill us."

"Perhaps the boys who're growing up today are like that. Perhaps they will not think it is fun to hunt a creature with a big gun."

"Perhaps they will care more to hunt creatures with their cameras so as to get pictures."

"Maybe they will be interested in learning of our ways, but won't want us when the life is out of us."

"Perhaps they would rather know less about us and have us alive and happy than kill us so as to boast about it."

"It is strange the idea some have of fun. I cannot think of the fun it would be to kill and hunt for the sake of hunting."

"And oh, do they think it is fun, when they know that into our hearts cold terror comes at the sound of those awful rifles?"

"Do they think that is fun?"

"Do they want to see us shot down, and our bodies lifeless?"

"Do they think that is fun?"

"Do they think it is fun to hunt for the sake of hunting and of boasting? Do they care more for their boastings than they do to give happiness to the people of the forest?"

"Do they think it is fun to make sadness and sorrow in the great woods where there has been happiness?"

"Oh, surely, surely the day will come when we will be safe from guns. Surely, surely the day will come when people will say that they do not want to hunt for the sake of hunting and that they will not kill when it is not necessary, just for the sake of killing."

"I believe that that time will come," ended Miss Deer, her great eyes turned on Deborah, looking so pleadingly and so hopefully.

"I believe that time will come too," said Miss Deborah Deer.

But just then there rang a shot through the forest. Miss Deborah turned her startled, wretched eyes on Miss Deer.

"That time hasn't come yet," said Deborah.

"The hunting season has commenced."

"Let us pray for safety," said Miss Deer.

"And for a better, better time to come when guns will not be used for fun," she added.

OLD GOODIES

Sally Lunn was a famous pastry cook in England and she was the one who originated the hot bread of that name. This was a favorite breakfast bread of George Washington.

Sally Lunn—

Take one quart of flour, four eggs, one-half cupful of melted butter or shortening, one-half a yeast cake softened in one-fourth of a cupful of water, one teaspoonful of salt, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Beat the eggs very light, add one cupful of milk, one cupful of tepid water, the sugar, yeast and melted butter.

Stir well and beat in the flour. When perfectly smooth let rise in a well buttered bowl. When well risen beat down, let rise again, beat down, then put into the greased muffin pans in which they are to bake. When very light bake in a moderately hot oven. Serve hot, breaking them open to but ter them.

Sweet Potato Pudding.—Parboil, peel, and when cold grate enough sweet potatoes to weigh a pound.

Cream one-half cupful of butter with three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, add the beaten yolks of four eggs, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg, the rind and juice of an orange, three tablespoonfuls of any fruit juice, bent. Mix well, put into a buttered baking dish and bake about twenty

Add flour to make a soft dough. Roll very thin and bake in a quick oven.

"Bulls" and "Bears" of Finance.

The origin of the stock exchange terms "bulls" and "bears" has never been satisfactorily explained. The phrase is of great antiquity, and can be traced in one of Cicer's plays produced in 1720, when the exchange was still known as "New Jonathan." It has been suggested that "bear" is a reference to the selling of the bear's skin before killing the bear, while a "bull" is supposed to be a speculator who buys stock for forward delivery in the hope that the price will rise so that he can sell out at a profit without taking up and paying for the stock. Con-tingoes, which have been reintroduced, are the percentage paid by the buyer of stock for postponement of transfer-day, the term being derived from the Spanish word "contango," meaning "I check."

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Recalled Pleasant Memories.

"How can you wear such a dreamy look when that jazz orchestra is making such an infernal racket?" "Why, it carries me right back to my childhood days," said the cabaret patron. "I was brought up in the shadow of a boiler factory."

If you want to know how low the value of a Russian ruble has fallen, it takes sixteen thousand of them to buy a cucumber.

Very Considerate.

At a railway station a nice old lady left the train and got into a cab. The cabman said, "Gimme your bag, lady, I'll put it on the top of the cab."
"No, indeed!" answered the dear old lady. "That poor horse has enough to pull. I'll just hold it on my lap."

A minister made rather a long call upon a lady acquaintance. Her little daughter, who was present, grew weary of his conversation and whispered in an audible key: "Didn't he bring his 'Amen' with him, mamma?"

Every man is expected to give an account of himself.

Billing and Cooing.

He met a fair maiden and soon was wooing. He told her he loved her, the words softly cooing. He suggested they marry, she fell for the plan. On the first of the month the billing began.

What Did Jane Think?

Jack—"Say, Jill, you didn't know that I was an electrician? I missed my calling."

Jill—"How's that?"

Jack—"Why, last night, over at Jane's the electric light fuse burnt out. Guess who fixed it? Me—I—myself."

Jill—"Huh! You're no electrician—you're an idiot."

The old fashioned girl used to stay at home when she had nothing to wear.

We often wonder how some of the women ever succeed in finding hats that are so unbecoming to them.

Two Stripes—"Didja hear that Bunker signed up for overseas service again?"

Three Stripes—"Zatso? How long did he sign for?"

Two Stripes—"For the duration of prohibition."

After being bitter enemies for years, Mr. Bryan and Senator Hitchcock have "formally buried the hatchet." Both were present at the interment, so each knows where to look for it in the next case of need.

News of the Pipeoop Motorcycle Club.

Slim Silo skidded into the post clock in front of Ten Tinkers' jewelry store. Slim said he was only "riding against time."

Domestic Animals Necessary.

Man couldn't get along without domesticated animals. The world now has one sheep and one head of cattle for each five people, and one head of swine for each 12 people. America, with only a sixteenth of the world's population, has a sixth of the world's cattle, a tenth of the sheep and three-sevenths of the swine. We are the greatest meat eaters on earth. Yet we are the most peaceful people. Militant Japan's diet is based on rice. It is an uncomfortable contrast for the theorists who preach that meat-eating makes people ferocious or savagely emotional.

Poetry From Within.

The only true or inspired poetry is always from within, not from without. The experience contained in it has been spiritually transmuted from lead into gold. It is severely logical, the most trivial of its adornments being subservient to, and suggested by, the dominant idea: any departure from these dictates would be the "falsifying of a revelation." It is unadorned with worldly wisdom, deference to prevailing opinions, mere talent or cleverness. Its anguish is unaltered by the gall of bitterness, its joy is never selfish.—James Thomson.

Bunyan's Valley of Humiliation.

This Valley of Humiliation is of itself as fruitful a place as any the crow flew over. It is the best, and most fruitful piece of ground in all these parts. Behold how green this valley is; also how beautified with lilies. I have known many laboring men that have got good estates in this Valley of Humiliation, for "God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace to the humble."—John Bunyan.

More than that, it establishes a basis of production that now places the Single-Six within reach of the greater group which aspires to Packard ownership.

It remained for Packard—with its mastery of costs and production—thus to demonstrate the revolutionary value that can be built into a car of the finest quality.

BOY BUILDS HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE

Clarence Sutcliffe of Aurora, Ill., though only twelve years of age, constructed his own automobile from parts of old machinery and a motor and some gas pipe and go-cart carriage wheels. The boy, who is shown driving his car with a tender attached, is of mechanical turn of mind. The little auto will pull twice its own weight.

KEEP BRAKES IN CONDITION

Expert Advises Inspection of All Apparatus at Least Once a Month.

MEANS BIG SAVING OF TIRES

Whenever Possible, Sliding the Wheels When Stopping Car Should Be Avoided—Lubrication of High Importance.

The state laws of Ohio and many other states require that the brakes and mechanism of every car driven on the public highways shall be in good working order. The reason for this is obvious and should be remembered at all times by everyone who drives a car.

The proper adjustment of the brakes in order to make them work efficiently at all times requires experience and skill. If the brake bands are adjusted a little too tight or close, they will then drag, and besides using an excessive amount of gasoline to drive the car, will sometimes become hot enough to burn out the lining and in rare cases set the car on fire.

If the bands are a little too loose then the brake pedal will go clear against the floor board before producing the proper braking effect. If one brake band be a little tighter than the other most of the braking effect is on the wheel with the tighter band, which means that this wheel will stop spinning and thus slide the tire with but little braking effect on the other wheel. This means first, the spooling of the tire in a few hundred miles of service, and, second, very poor braking or retarding effect.

Therefore, it is quite necessary that each one of the two sets of brakes on a car should be so adjusted that it is possible to slide both wheels with the action of either set of brakes without the aid of the other. At the same time, the wheels should be perfectly free to turn when the brake is not in use.

Ordinarily when stopping the car, we do not wish to slide the wheels, as this places unnecessary stress on the brakes and braking mechanism and also pulls or tears a lot of rubber off or the tread of the tires which are sliding.

Another reason is that a car will not stop so quickly with the wheels sliding as when the brakes are applied just hard enough to permit them to turn. All of the brake mechanism, such as the bands, pins, yokes and rods, should be inspected regularly at least once a month to see whether they are becoming worn enough to be weakened. Many serious accidents have been caused by a brake rod, yoke or pin breaking at a critical moment when the brake was applied suddenly and a little harder than usual, writes an auto expert, in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It may be true that the reserve brake, or emergency brake, as it is more often called, was at the time in perfect working condition, but the time required to get this emergency brake into action after the other had given away was too great to prevent a crash. There are usually several places on the brake mechanism which require periodical oiling and lubricating, and the driver who conscientiously takes care of this lubrication and checking of the parts to see whether they are worn is one at least who goes a long way towards the prevention of accidents and the saving of human life.

A fact which very few people realize, perhaps, is the distance covered by a vehicle in one second of time when going at, say, 30 miles an hour. By a little figuring with a pencil and paper, you will find that when going 30 miles an hour, the car is moving a distance of 44 feet in every second. When we think this over and consider that so many drivers travel at this rate of speed, we wonder that there are not more accidents, and we can easily agree with the police department and the safety council in trying in every way possible to keep the speed down within the legal limit.

Another point which is interesting to all drivers is the space required to stop a car traveling at various speeds.

on dry pavement with the brakes in perfect condition. Traveling at ten miles an hour, a car may be stopped in less than its own length or approximately nine and one-half feet. Traveling 20 miles an hour, or twice as fast, the distance required to stop is four times as great or approximately 38 feet. Traveling 30 miles an hour, the shortest distance in which it is possible to stop is not three times as much as ten miles, but nine times as much, or a trifle over 85 feet. This means that the distance in which we can stop increases as the square of the speed at which we are traveling.

These distances represent an emergency stop under ideal braking conditions and if the streets are wet or slippy, these distances must be multiplied many times. Therefore, again the writer says, BE CAREFUL.

The Orator and the Place. To every orator his own inspiration, though there have been some like Gladstone, who soared above all limitations. The Pitts spoke little outside parliament; it is doubtful whether either would have been supreme outside. It was not merely the sun, but the sun bursting through the windows of the commons house that inspired the younger Pitt's finest declamation. Lord Rosebery spoke best outside parliament, because he required a great canvas, space, air, his tower, as opposed to parliamentary tradition. Peel spoke best in the house because he was essentially a house of commons man.—Manchester Guardian

You Auto Know

That one of the most usual places for wear on a car is at the steering knuckles, which are always under a heavy strain. Comparatively few car owners realize that the knuckles need a constant supply of heavy grease in order to prevent undue wear, and for this reason it is the part of wisdom to see that the proper lubricant is applied—either through screwing down the grease cups or using the grease gun. A good rule to follow in this respect is to grease the knuckles whenever it is put in the car or, at least, whenever the oil is changed.

Worn steering knuckles are also one of the infallible signs of an over-used car and, in purchasing a second-hand machine, these should be inspected in order to see whether the car has been used or abused. In this respect, the knuckles, together with several other particular parts, are regarded as the "teeth" of the automobile, for an examination of these will disclose the real age of the car—not the length of time which has elapsed since its original purchase, or even the number of miles it has been driven, but the care it has received.

AUTOMOBILE PAINTS

Blown by suction from the intake manifold, a whistle has been invented to warn a motorist that the circulation of lubricating oil in his car has stopped.

Few owners pay the attention to the ball bearings that these latter deserve. They usually wait until the garage man calls attention to the injury done by breakage.

As a matter of safety to the car and passengers, as well as to save the storage battery from discharging, a short circuit in the electric system should be repaired as soon as possible.

The high-tension wiring of the electric system requires a much heavier insulation than other wires of the system, because of the high voltage current which passes through the former.

If it becomes necessary to remove a cam-shaft gear it must be marked so that it may be replaced correctly. Mark on tooth on the crankshaft gear and the two adjacent teeth on the cam-shaft gear.

A tap should never be used in a cored or rough hole. A heavy flat arm should be run through to take out the scale, sand or projections. Plenty of good lard should be used in cutting the threads with a die.

Carburetor adjustment is of prime importance. A mixture too lean or too rich makes for wastage, when a correct one will do the work without loss. But without some knowledge, this is a task better left to the carburetor expert.

A little dust on the body or hood is a constant irritation to the owner and so he wipes it off with a cloth, grinding the grime into the polish. A light dust brush of fine hair may be used, but the only satisfactory way to remove the dirt is to flow water on it.

Weakness Brings Cruelty. Weakness is the parent of panic and panic brings cruelty in its train. So long as the state was weak it was cruel, and the hideous treason laws of Tudor times were due to fear. The weak cannot afford to be tolerant any more than the poor can afford to be generous. Cecil thought the state could not afford to tolerate two forms of religion; today it tolerates hundreds and it laughs at treason because it is strong.—From Pollard's "History of England."

"ARTIE" DEMING A FAVORITE HERE

Arthur Deming, who is billed with the Gus Hill-Honey Boy Minstrels that are playing at Kingston Opera House tonight, frequently played in Kingston in days gone by, having been with Primrose & West, Lew Dockstader, M. Henry and other top line companies. "Artie," although 44 years in the work of making people laugh, is still in the ring with his sweet voice and negro dialect. Another old-timer who has visited Kingston many times is John W. Vogel, the owner of the show, a veteran manager of leading minstrel companies.

FRED STEVENS SHOT IN BACK AFTER "DRY" RAID.

Fred Stevens of Delhi, one of the force of William Cohen of this city, who is in charge of a number of federal prohibition enforcement men with headquarters at Syracuse, was shot in the back at Binghamton Thursday night. Stevens had just raided a place with other men, on Chenango street. He was taken to the Binghamton hospital, but his wound is not thought to be serious.

Electricity and Bullets.

At a ride meeting in Switzerland it was discovered that the steel-jacketed bullets of the marksmen were swerved from their course by the influence of telegraph and telephone wires running alongside the range, says the Washington Star. Experiments were then made at Thun by placing four steel cables parallel with the range and about 40 yards distant from it and sending a current of 8,000 volts through them. The effect, it is said, was to turn the bullets so far from their course that the deviation amounted to 24 yards on a range of 200 yards. The bullets on being taken from the targets were found to be magnetized. Next, on an artillery range of 3,000 yards, the electro-magnetic influence was generated 200 yards in front of the targets and 40 yards to one side. The projectiles were swerved 14 degrees from a straight line.

A Doubtful Hit.

One sister in this Evansville family is a newspaper reporter and the other a school teacher. And the little teacher is much given to borrowing her sister's clothes. The good-natured reporter usually doesn't object, but the other day she felt her sister had gone too far when she wore her new silk dress and fall hat to school. She told her, too.
"But I had heard the school board would be at the building today," the teacher excused herself, "and I wanted to make a hit with them."
"I bet you did," came back the dry retort, "for they all nearly went wild about that dress when I wore it to the school board meeting last night."—Indianapolis News.

Davy Jones' Toll.

Lloyd's Register of Shipping records the loss during the last quarter of 1921 of 90 steamers and 68 sailing vessels, representing 117,920 and 38,188 tons, gross, respectively. The causes are given as wrecked, foundered, collisioned, burned, missing, abandoned, lost and condemned.

Of this total 7 steamers, and 17 sailing vessels were of American register. Holland had no losses during the period under notice. Vessels under 100 tons are excluded from the return.

No Concentration.

"Would you call Mrs. Gadder an inquisitive woman?"
"Not unduly so, for a member of her sex."
"Not?"
"After she has tried unsuccessfully for six months to find out the income of a neighbor something else is sure to attract her attention."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Confined to Prison.

"Do you know 'The Star-Spangled Banner' by heart?"
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but I'm not trying to use it in this campaign. Practical questions are becoming so complex that my constituents won't be satisfied to hear me sing or recite."

TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN GIRLS

Kipling at His Best Wrote With Complete Comprehension of Their Many Charms.

Thirty years ago, Rudyard Kipling found the American girl above compare. In "American Notes" he said of her:

"Sweet and comely are the maidens of Devonshire; delicate and of gracious seeming those who live in the pleasant places of London; fascinating for all their demureness the damsels of France clinging closely to their mothers, and with large eyes wondering at the wicked world; excellent in her own place and to those who understand her is the Anglo-Indian 'spite' in her second season; but the girls of America are above and beyond them all. They are clever; they can talk. Yea, it is said that they think. They are instructed in the folly and vanity of the male mind, for they have associated with 'the boys' from boyhood, and can discerningly minister to both vices, or pleasantly snub the possessor. As certain of their own poets have said:

Man is fire and woman is tow,
And the devil he comes and begins to blow.

"In America the tow is soaked in a solution that makes it fireproof, in absolute liberty and large knowledge; consequently accidents do not exceed the regular percentage, arranged by the devil for each class and climate under the skies."

SMALL BOY'S PLAN WORKED

Whole Lot Better Than Keeping Constant Watch for Marauding Band of Chickens.

One time when Frank Wallace, state entomologist, was a small boy, says the Indianapolis Star, his father assigned him to guard a garden from a marauding band of chickens from a neighbor's coop. Frank did not like the idea of wasting his precious boyish time on unprincipled chickens and set his wits to working.

He bored holes through grains of corn, tied notes to the end of a thread attached to the grains and set the bait. The foolish raiders fell for the trick. Frightened by the fluttering notes a few inches from the ends of their bills and the sensation of the threads in their throats, the chickens went flying home and tore around the yard. This attracted the owner and the chickens were caught and notes read. This is what they read:

"I've been over to Wallace's this afternoon."

The next day the same thing occurred and this is what the notes said that day:

"I scratched out Wallace's onion bed today."

On the third day the notes read:
"Say, now listen: This is the last day I'm going over to Wallace's and come back alive."

There was no fourth day to the story except that the owner of the chickens and the father of young Wallace nearly got into a fight.

"BETTER HOMES WEEK" IN ULSTER

Merchants Will Cooperate With Ulster County Home Bureau in Nation-Wide Movement for Better Homes.

"Better Homes Week," which is being universally observed throughout the United States, will be observed in Kingston city and in many villages in Ulster county next week in conjunction with the Ulster County Home Bureau.

"Better Homes Week" is intended to call peoples' attention to the desirability of better homes and the ease with which they may be procured. When rightly directed interest is displayed by the home-makers.

In connection with the observance of "Better Homes Week" in this city, a number of Kingston merchants have agreed with the Ulster County Home Bureau for special displays regarding different parts of the home. The R. G. R. store will make a special exhibit of a living room and also of a dining room, each completely furnished and equipped in such a way as to make them desirable parts of a "Better Home," and in addition will also make a special display of general household furnishings.

Stock & Cordts will make a special display of an entire apartment completely furnished and equipped, besides exhibiting the customary apartment furnishings, all of which go to make a "Better Home."

The Canfield Supply Company will display a Rural Home Water System, which is very essential to making a "Better Home."

Other merchants have also announced their intention of aiding the movement by appropriate displays, and for further details should consult Miss Fischer, the Home Bureau demonstration agent for Ulster county, at the Home Bureau office, 293 Wall street, or by telephone, call 1215-J.

THE HEALTH OF THE THROAT

The health of the throat is a great comfort to all of us, but to the singer it is a nuisance to anyone, but to singers who are chronic sufferers and told they will always suffer until they are cured. It is rare indeed that an operation is necessary. In nineteen cases out of twenty where an operation is advised, the chiropractor finds it unnecessary. The throat condition is as dependent on spinal nerves as any other part of the body. When there is a chronic condition of throat trouble, the cause is invariably found to be in the pinching of spinal nerves, and this condition is readily corrected by chiropractic spinal adjustments.

SINGER TWICE RESCUED BY CHIROPRACTIC
"Personally, I had two very remarkable demonstrations of chiropractic efficiency in one season. I was quite suddenly attacked by bronchitis in both times, and no preparation for the other had been made. I was in despair for an understanding of a few spinal adjustments performed when, like miracles, and at the performance I was in Chiropneic News, July 6.

OUR SUCCESS IS DUE TO OUR POLICY OF NEVER ACCEPTING CASES THAT WE CANNOT BENEFIT.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

"I never have been able to get ahead much. Luck has always seemed to be against me."

This was one of the closing sentences of a pathetic letter written recently by a man well on in years and in dire financial difficulties. Such statements always arouse one's deepest pity, and at the same time, should teach a most valuable lesson in thrift.

We hear much about good luck and bad luck in the world—a great deal more than is best for our progress.

When we analyze personal success we find the element of luck had little or nothing to do with it. And when we analyze the failures we find that bad luck was not to blame.

So-called bad luck should be a blessing in disguise, for in overcoming it we gain strength, courage and ability. And so-called good luck very often brings direct or eventual failure and ruin.

If you are in any way depending on the winds of good luck to wait you into the harbor of your dreams, you will be most grievously disappointed.

Rely on yourself. Learn your lessons in the rugged school of hard work, thrift, patience and perseverance. Scratch the word luck from your vocabulary. If things go against you, accept them as the challenge of a worthy foe, and increase your resolutions to win. If things come your way, don't get the idea that you have become one especially favored of the Gods, like certain characters you read about in your fairy-book days.

Look out for apparent good luck. It may prove your undoing as it has done in the cases of many others.

The simple rudiments of human progress have not changed through the ages of man's development. Back of all success stands the substantial virtues of which thrift is the keystone.

Belief in luck is one of the evil heritages of ancient superstitions. It has no rightful place in the thoughts or plans of any enterprising person of our day.

MEDICAL COLLEGE FOR JERUSALEM

The first steps in the establishment of a medical college in Jerusalem to form part of the Hebrew University where all the instruction is to be given in the ancient Hebrew language, revived and modernized, have been taken by three American physicians who just returned from Palestine, where in the course of a month's stay they purchased a tract of land for the purpose on the Mount of Olives. The plans for the erection of the first set of permanent buildings have been completed in consultation with expert advice in Europe and America, and the actual work of building, it is announced, will begin as soon as the rainy season in Palestine is over. In addition, in order to start certain pressing work immediately, a building has been rented as temporary quarters for a school for research of tropical diseases and microbiological laboratory.

The physicians who carried through this work in the Near East with characteristic American enterprise were Dr. Nathan Ratnoff, Dr. David J. Kalish, and Dr. Samuel J. Kopecky, all of New York city. They went to Palestine as a commission appointed by the American Jewish Physicians' Committee which, in co-operation with the Palestine Foundation Fund (Keren Hayesod), has raised among the profession in America the sum of $300,000 for the purpose of establishing the medical department of the proposed Hebrew university in Palestine. The committee includes also a medical and pharmaceutical section, and while the fund raised is a trust fund and part of the general Palestine Foundation Fund, the appeal was made exclusively to the members of the medical profession in America.

Simultaneously, it is announced that the faculties of law, engineering and education for the Hebrew University in Jerusalem are to be provided in the same manner as the medical department. There are now in process of organization committees of jurists, engineers and educators who are following the road laid out by the committee of physicians.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the statement that all the instruction is to be in Hebrew. In answer to a question, as to the adaptability of Hebrew for such a purpose, Dr. Nathan Ratnoff, chairman of the American Jewish Physicians' Committee and of the Commission to Palestine, said:

"It was this feature of our work which caused a good deal of skepticism among members of the profession whose interest was sought. How, they asked, is it possible to teach the medical sciences in Hebrew? The question was answered for us who went to Palestine the moment we stepped off the railroad station in Jerusalem. There everything linguistic that we saw or heard was in Hebrew. The signs on the street corners and above the shops were in Hebrew. We were greeted by our friends in Hebrew. We heard the people converse and the children play and quarrel in Hebrew. It was as though the pages of the Bible rose up and lived before us. The only thing that broke the illusion was the modern bustling and progressive aspect of so much of the life that we saw there."

"Our mission to Palestine was," continued Dr. Ratnoff, "to make a thorough investigation of present conditions in the country with a view to determining whether or not they were ripe for starting the medical department of the Hebrew University, and second, to inaugurate the work if we found conditions favorable. With regard to the first, we found that the need for a medical college was urgent because a considerable number of young men and women with the necessary preliminary education for matriculation in a medical university, were being sent abroad by their parents, if the latter are rich enough, in order to receive their medical education for the want of facilities in the Holy Land. The children of poor parents who may have the ambition to enter the profession are, of course, deprived of the opportunity. The other reason which convinced us that no time should be lost in establishing the medical department was the great need in Palestine of research work in the endemic diseases, and for the education and training of expert sanitarians. The problem is very much similar to that which faced our own government in Cuba, Porto Rico and especially in the Canal Zone."

"Our first important action was the purchase of a site for the medical college with its dental department and pharmaceutical laboratories. The site covers an area of approximately thirty acres on Mt. Scopus. We then rented a building, which is now used as a Pasteur Institute, for the microbiological laboratory and school for research in tropical diseases. The school will begin to function as soon as the proper directing head and assistants have been appointed and the necessary equipment purchased and delivered. The work of building will start when the rainy season in Palestine is over. We also started an up-to-date medical library and we hope, in addition, to provide in the very near future suitable apparatus to enable Palestine to take care of its own radiograph work, as well as to begin research and instruction along these lines. We expect the complete medical school to be a gradual development from the first departments devoted to medical research to post-graduate instruction for the physicians in Palestine, to the eventual establishment of schools for instruction in the fundamentals of medical science."

The American Jewish Physicians' Committee was organized on the initiative of Dr. Nathan Ratnoff and Dr. Joseph Baks, who made the first contribution of $1,500 to the cause at the time of the visit of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, to this country in April, 1921. Simultaneously the Palestine foundation fund was established, and a decision reached to regard the work of the physician's committee as an integral part of the fund. The medical college is to be governed

THE NEW WORLD BEGUN

"millions now living will never die"—Judge Rutherford

LIFE, perfect, limitless; with a regenerated race; on a restored earth; with a corrected climate and life-perpetuating food; under a Government which will satisfy the righteous desires of every living creature. And it's Here, at the door! The portals of the new age are swinging open and many will enter and never die.

The old order is passing away, the new order is here. Christ Jesus is taking unto Himself His great power and beginning His reign. The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand.

You can by no means afford to let business or pleasure or any person deprive you of the solace and benefits enjoyed by those who have investigated this timely and heart-cheering message. The sole object of this lecture is to bring to the people a knowledge of the dispensational truth now due to be understood.

WHAT HE EXPECTED OF WIFE

Girl's Attitude Seems Unreasonable When These Few Small Things Were All He Wanted.

Beauty. Punctuality. Sweet temper. Economy. Trust.

And that she should be sound asleep when he came in.

And that he should not be questioned regarding the hour when he returned from poker parties.

Nor that she should make any comments regarding the strangeness of the fact that it was necessary to have onion sandwiches at poker parties.

And that she should spend such evenings as he played poker or stayed downtown or went to stag dinners with friends of the feminine sex.

That she should always understand that his flirtations were too mild for any uncalled jealousy on her part.

That it was quite a different thing for a man to be forgiven than for a woman.

And that he wouldn't have his wife make a fool of him as some wives he knew made of their husbands.

With these clear understandings at the start he knew that she would be very happy with him, for he would make her an ideal husband.

But he had been a little too previous. She saw now why two other wives had divorced him.

And she saved time—by refusing to marry him!—Mary Graham Bonner in Judge.

MADE A HIT WITH STUDENTS

"Cafeteria Work" Was Something Which Evidently Had the Approval of the Entire Body.

A new school for boys in Terre Haute, Ind., is a very modern vocational school, with band equipment, big athletic park and cafeteria. And the new students were much impressed by these facilities.

On the first day of school one of the new fellows watched a last year student make out his program, and it read: "Shop work, wood work, chemical laboratory work and forge work."

He studied it a little while and began writing. And this is what he wrote: "Band work, athletic work," and then he hesitated, studied for a long time and finished, "cafeteria work."

Before he could get any farther the old student, having seen the program, seized it for exhibit, and it went on record as the most popular program of the school.

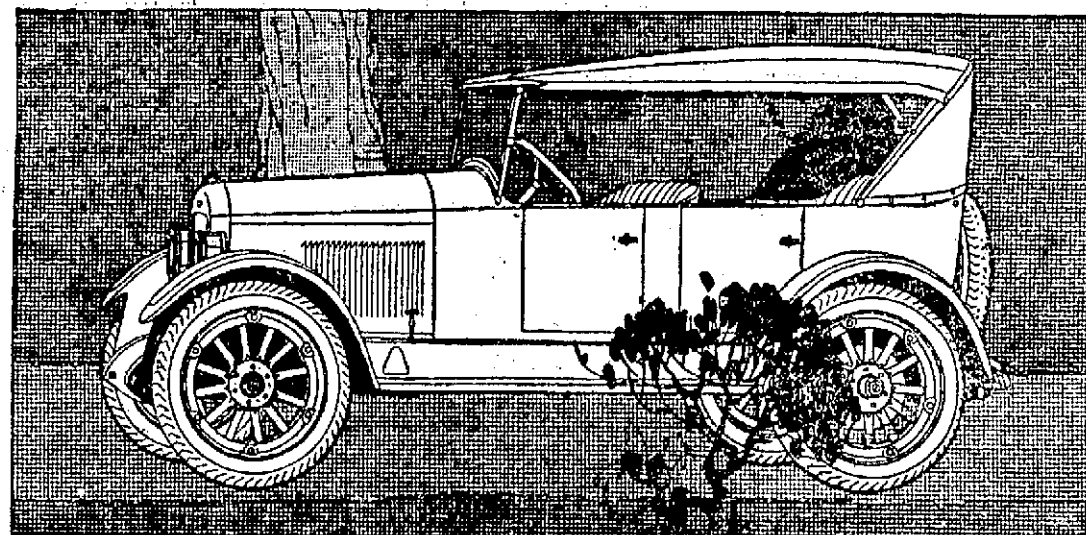

Thought for the Day. Nothing distinguishes a lady or a gentleman more than dignity under misfortune.

Now It Costs $995

A Sturdy Six at the Price of a Light Six

At its new low price the Jewett Six is still further removed from the possibility of legitimate comparison or competition.

This Paige-built six-cylinder, 50 horsepower automobile was introduced to the public less than a year ago as a new standard of value. On that basis it made good with a success of amazing proportions, for here at last at the price of a so-called "light" six was a six of genuinely sturdy construction. Every part and unit was found to be more than equal to the demand of any speed, or any condition of the road.

The car that unquestionably established a standard of unprecedented value has now been reduced to $995 f. o. b. factory. There is just one way to understand what this price means. You must examine the Jewett, ride in it, and then compare it with any other five-passenger six.

The complete Paige-Jewett lines of six-cylinder passenger cars offer a selection of thirteen models priced from $995 to $3350. The complete line of Paige trucks meets every hauling need. They are sold and serviced by Paige-dealers everywhere.

A Thrifty Six Built by Paige

Yes, We've Met Them. Some people take more time and strength trying to find how to avoid doing a hard thing, than they would need to do it. And worst of all, they become one of the most worthless things to be found on this big earth of ours.—Exchange.

STATEWIDE MEET FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Twelve Sections Will Compete in Championship. — Basketball Rules Altered.—A. W. Buley, Member of Executive Committee.

Beginning next spring, high school track and field athletes of New York state will meet in statewide competition, according to plans promulgated in Albany Thursday night after the meeting of the New York State Public High School Basketball Association. A vote was taken among the assembled school representatives and the sentiment favored the addition of track and field sports to the annual state sanctioned events.

Tentative plans for organization divide the state into twelve sections, with representatives for each to arrange for sectional championship events and a state championship meet at Union college on Saturday, June 2. The temporary committee appointed includes John Hummer, Binghamton; Lawrence Hill, Albany; Stuart S. Travis, Long Island; Frank B. McGovern, Westchester county; Paul Krimmell, Syracuse; Harry Eaton, Alfred; H. G. Thompson, Potsdam; Carl Burkhardt, Buffalo; Charles Mosher, Saratoga; Herman Norton, Rochester; Eugene H. Hofmeister, Buffalo, and Prof. Harry Opydyke, Union college.

Events decided upon include 100, 220, 440, 880 yards; mile run, 220 yard low hurdles, running high jump, running broad jump, shot put, twelve-pound shot and relay race. Each school will enter one man for each event, excepting the relay.

Athletes competing in both the 440 and 880 yard events will be eligible for the relay team. Neighborhood colleges are expected to offer the use of their tracks for the events and to take in the scholastic athletes as guests for sectional meets. Union college, Alfred university, Colgate university, Syracuse university, College of the City of New York, University of Rochester, St. Lawrence university and Stephen's college already have offered their tracks and field facilities.

Basketball Rules Altered. Slightly altered rules for the 1922-23 scholastic basketball season, selection of Syracuse university as the scene of the championship games and the admission of additional leagues to the New York State Public High School Basketball Association, were among decisions reached at the meeting of the executive committee of the association in session in Albany Thursday.

Players to be eligible for basketball must be registered with the school with which he is to compete, by October 1 and must maintain a standard of 80 per cent in studies from the date of enrollment to the date of the league game.

Students who change their residence will be allowed to compete with more than one team in the league providing that the record of the player is approved by the principal of the school which he first represented.

Adoption of an amendment limiting players to four years of participation in high school games while taking a sub-academic school course was deferred and becomes effective for the 1923-24 season.

The invitation of Syracuse university to have the semi-finals and finals played there March 22, 23 and 24, was accepted. A special rule was formulated to take care of a situation as confronted the association last year. Syracuse Central High School won the championship at the university in their home city, on a playing court which they were alleged to have used in practice games. In order to insure fairness, in these courts because of inadequate accommodations on home courts, will not be considered as a rule violation.

New leagues admitted into the association include The Lower Hudson Valley League to the second section; Delaware and Chenango leagues into section four; Canandaigua, Geneva, Utica and Penn Yan into section six and the extension of the Syracuse Central League to include Auburn High school. Section eight was changed to allow Plattsburgh to compete with the winning team in Clinton county, the winner of such game to be the representative of the Clinton County league.

Members of the executive committee re-elected were: President, Daniel Chase; chairman, Frank Wassung; Norwich; vice chairman, Walter S. Clark, Rensselaer; secretary and treasurer, Elmer Smith, Rochester; Gilbert Lyon, Sag Harbor; A. W. Buley, Kingston; Carl Burkhardt, Buffalo, and L. T. Wilcox, Gouverneur.

"Rushball" Played With Autos.

"Rushball," a game which is usually played by men on foot, was enjoyed recently by the drivers of six automobiles and numerous interested spectators, says an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The cars were stripped of windshields and tops, lined up at opposite ends of the field, and, at a given signal, furiously charged the large inflated ball. Although the sport was necessarily rough, considerable skill was evidenced by the different drivers in averting mishaps, and when the game was finished it was found that none of the machines had suffered the slightest damage in any way.

FOOTBALL AT ST. STEPHEN'S

The game of football scheduled at the St. Stephen's College gridiron will not be played today. Eastman's College of Poughkeepsie was to furnish the opposition but recent communication with Manager Howell, of the St. Stephen's eleven, stated that not enough men reported for practice to make a team.

St. Stephen's has the strongest team on the field at the present time that the college has ever turned out. Thus far four games have been played with colleges far beyond St. Stephen's College class. The only team to defeat the Crimson this season has been the Rensselaer Polytechnic aggregation. September 23, St. Stephen's played St. Lawrence University and defeated them 12-7. The following Saturday R. P. I. scored a victory over St. Stephen's. On October 7, the College of the City of New York humbly bowed to the Saints, 7-0. The City College team from end to end averaged 200 pounds; the backfield, too, was heavy and fast, but the St. Stephen's brand of football far surpassed that of the New Yorkers. Another interesting feature of this game was the fact that at the City College there are twenty thousand students, while at St. Stephen's the present enrollment is one hundred men. Last Saturday at Kingston, Rhode Island, the Hudson river college played one of the most spectacular games, it is said by sporting writers in the Boston and Providence papers, ever presented to Rhode Island fans. The game was played by St. Stephen's and the Rhode Island State College, and the local men won by the score of 7-6, one of the St. Stephen's forwards blocking a drop kick from touchdown in the last minute of play. The St. Stephen's score was made in the third quarter when Harvey Simmons, the local quarterback, recovered a Rhode Island fumble and raced seventy yards for a touchdown, the St. Stephen's team forming a perfect fan-shaped interference about Simmons and picking off the Rhode Islanders one by one as they grew daunted. The average weight of the teams of which the local collegians have played has been 195 pounds, while the St. Stephen's men scarcely tip the beam at 160 pounds.

The St. Stephen's men will play the New York Aggies at Annandale October 28, the game starting at 2:30 p. m.

PAST AND PRESENT IN HOME COUNTY MAGAZINE.

The Home County Magazine for October contains many matters of interest to the people of the Hudson valley cities and counties. In the Ulster section there is a fine article by Howard Chipp, telling of the days gone by. There are also several pages of the boys from Ulster in New York and those in the home towns. "A History of the Hudson River Valley," by William Wait, one of the foremost historians of New York state, commenced in this issue, covering a full page and in succeeding issues it will be continued. There is a picture of the old Skillypot, and on the cover page there is a scene of Rondout Harbor in 1903, with the old James W. Baldwin at the Rorer & Tremper dock. In the Albany section there is an article by Dr. George Sanderson describing the theaters, plays, actors and actresses of Old Albany. In the Dutchess county section there is an article by A. B. Ostrander telling of old Poughkeepsie and pictures of the first Dutchess county court house in which the constitution was ratified by New York state and of the new bridge at Pleasant Valley, with the old Milldam in the foreground.

WHY TERMED 'NAVAL STORES'

Centuries Ago Turpentine and Rosin Were Imported Into England for Ship Purposes Only.

"Naval stores," translated into everyday English, simply means turpentine and rosin.

The earliest mention of the turpentine and rosin industry in the United States is found in an old manuscript under date of 1610, which may be seen in the public record office at London. It is entitled "Instruction for such things as are to be sent from Virginia."

"Hard pitch," "Tarre," "Turpentine" and "Rozen," are also mentioned in the "Booke of the Commodities of Virginia," which, it is presumed, was issued about the same time. Pitch and tar were the chief products of the industry up to the middle of the eighteenth century. This extensive use in the construction and maintenance of sailing vessels caused them to be called "naval stores," the term which is now applied to the turpentine and rosin industry, which has supplanted the old time production of tar and pitch.

Paradoxical, Indeed.

In acting as topmaster at a recent function of the Washington real estate board, Thomas Bradley was confronted with the duty of expressing the board's regret that Major Carey H. Brown was relinquishing his post as executive officer of the district zoning commission, and its pleasure that Major Wheeler had been assigned as Major Brown's successor.

"Whenever there is one of these leave-taking and welcoming affairs, I am reminded of the time that Dr. Wellington Koo, noted Chinese diplomat, brought home forcibly the paradoxical peculiarities of Americans, as he termed it." Mr. Bradley began. "It was on the occasion of a board of trade outing in honor of a retiring district official and his successor, and Doctor Koo had been called on to address the gathering. 'You Americans, I am compelled to conclude, are little liars,' he announced with a twinkle in his eye. 'You say you are sorry that one official is leaving, and yet turn around and tell his successor that you are glad he is taking the other man's place!'" — Washington Star.

REMAINS CAPITAL OF MUSIC

Vienna, in All Its Vicissitudes, Still the Beloved Center for the Real Lovers of Melody.

In starving Vienna the great hunger is still for music. After desperate years of struggle the capital on the blue Danube remains a musical center, a mecca for artistic pilgrims, says the Living Age.

Lovers of music have regretfully speculated as to what might be the ultimate fate of the city where Mozart, Beethoven, Brahms, Gluck and the waltz kings of opera composed their masterpieces. Dr. Julius Korngold, in the London Morning Post, holds out some hope.

The opera, under the combined direction of Franz Schalk and Richard Strauss, is giving, as a rule, the best performances in the world. The only drawback is that the presence of Strauss brings back the "star" system, which had been banished from Vienna for some decades. The opera is even jestingly referred to as "Richard Strauss' theater."

Then, too, Frau Jenitza has left for New York, and Lotte Lehmann has gone to Argentina. However, the orchestra, under the direction of Felix Weingartner, is unsurpassed and continues to give its eight Philharmonic midday concerts. And in its magnificent opera house Vienna has a superb setting for the performances.
